

1. Which 2 team members were the least productive? And which 2 members were the most productive?
2. Where did you go wrong this sprint? And what did you do well?
3. What technical tools or techniques, and what collaboration tools or techniques turned out to be helpful?
4. Name a positive, an improvement and an action point for your scrum master.
5. What skill does each group member bring to the table?
6. Name a small improvement that would increase the productivity of the group.
7. How can I (myself) and how can we (as a group) improve the team spirit?
8. What annoyed you the most during the previous sprint. Once answered, ask this question to a different team member of choice.
9. What made you laugh/happy/proud last sprint? Once answered, ask this question to a different team member of choice.
10. With which team member do you like collaborating the least, and with which team member do you like collaborating the most?
11. What do you like about your agile board? How does your board help you in your scrum process? What changes would you make to the board?
12. What went well last sprint? What could be improved? How are you (as a group) going to improve this? What have you learnt this sprint?